Following the example of Jesus Christ

1) Searched the scriptures.
2) Honestly face the challenge or question presented with a sincere desire to solve it as Jesus would solve it.
3) Through diligent study and prayer, sought to weigh alternatives in light of what I knew about gospel principles.
4) Made a decision in my own mind.
5) Taken the matter to the Lord, told him the problem, told him that I wanted to do what was right in his view, and asked him to give me peace of mind if I have made the right decision.

By following this pattern, Jesus lived a perfect life. We cannot, of course, equal his performance. We can, however, make greater progress toward it by emulating him than in any other way" (Romney, "What Would Jesus Do?" p. 5).

Divine Nature

Following the example of Jesus Christ

1) Searched the scriptures.
2) Honestly face the challenge or question presented with a sincere desire to solve it as Jesus would solve it.
3) Through diligent study and prayer, sought to weigh alternatives in light of what I knew about gospel principles.
4) Made a decision in my own mind.
5) Taken the matter to the Lord, told him the problem, told him that I wanted to do what was right in his view, and asked him to give me peace of mind if I have made the right decision.

By following this pattern, Jesus lived a perfect life. We cannot, of course, equal his performance. We can, however, make greater progress toward it by emulating him than in any other way" (Romney, "What Would Jesus Do?" p. 5).

Divine Nature

Following the example of Jesus Christ

1) Searched the scriptures.
2) Honestly face the challenge or question presented with a sincere desire to solve it as Jesus would solve it.
3) Through diligent study and prayer, sought to weigh alternatives in light of what I knew about gospel principles.
4) Made a decision in my own mind.
5) Taken the matter to the Lord, told him the problem, told him that I wanted to do what was right in his view, and asked him to give me peace of mind if I have made the right decision.

By following this pattern, Jesus lived a perfect life. We cannot, of course, equal his performance. We can, however, make greater progress toward it by emulating him than in any other way" (Romney, "What Would Jesus Do?" p. 5).

Divine Nature

Following the example of Jesus Christ

1) Searched the scriptures.
2) Honestly face the challenge or question presented with a sincere desire to solve it as Jesus would solve it.
3) Through diligent study and prayer, sought to weigh alternatives in light of what I knew about gospel principles.
4) Made a decision in my own mind.
5) Taken the matter to the Lord, told him the problem, told him that I wanted to do what was right in his view, and asked him to give me peace of mind if I have made the right decision.

By following this pattern, Jesus lived a perfect life. We cannot, of course, equal his performance. We can, however, make greater progress toward it by emulating him than in any other way" (Romney, "What Would Jesus Do?" p. 5).

Divine Nature